Officials Pleased

Safety Director and Safety-Service Director Clyde C. Caldwell said they believed the first collection provided a very good answer to the critics of the parking meter who have contended that motorists would be reluctant to pay for the privilege of parking in the heart of the business district. They pointed out that one meter immediately east of the court house on the north side of Center street yielded $1.45 indicating that the parking space had been paid for all but one hour during the three-day period.

Additional calculations revealed that the average parking space was paid for 60 per cent of the time, despite the leniency policy followed during the first three days. The smallest amount received was 26 cents yielded by each of three meters on North Main street near Mill street. On the south side of West Center between Main and Prospect streets, each meter contained $1 in coins, representing the highest receipts for any one group of meters.

Collection Schedule

Mr. Caldwell announced that collections will be made twice a week hereafter on Tuesdays and Fridays. The city has duplicate coin boxes for each meter so that when a filled box is removed it will immediately be replaced with the empty one thus eliminating any interruption of service. Before being placed in the meters the coin boxes are sealed under the supervision of the city auditor and the seal are not broken until returned to the auditor for the collection. Each meter and coin box is numbered and a record is kept for the meter.

U. S. TO PROBE CUDAHY TALK

Text of Interview on Belgian Food Shortage Is Demanded.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7—The state department asked Ambassador Kennedy in London today for a complete text of the interview given there yesterday by John P. Cudahy, ambassador to Belgium which was sharply criticized in the British press.

Sumner Welles, acting secretary of state, said Cudahy's interview in which he described the food situation in Belgium as approaching a famine condition was granted without prior consultation with or authority from the state department.

Welles declined to comment further.

Discussing conditions in Belgium, Cudahy also said in the interview:

"I was a soldier in the last war and I think these Germans behaved better than United States soldiers would have done."

British Refuse To End Food Blockade

By The Associated Press

LONDON, Aug. 7—The ministry of economic warfare said today that Britain refused to deviate from her policy of keeping food shipments out of German-occupied territory and added that there need not be any famine in Europe this winter.

Ministry experts said the continents harvests and reserves ought to be adequate with general distribution to prevent any general famine—provided the Germans do not take the best for themselves while leaving the conquered populations hungry.

The ministry statement followed British press criticism of an implied plea by the United States ambassador to Belgium, John Cudahy, that the British navy open its blockade for food shipments. Cudahy said Belgium would be close to famine by early fall unless food was sent from the United States.

Food shipments would not be allowed through the blockade even if they were to be distributed by an organization which the British could trust completely, "one authoritative source said.

The British view was that any such food would make the whole situation easier for the Germans, relieving them of their troubles with hungry people.

WALLACE AND HOPKINS TO VISIT PRESIDENT

By The Associated Press

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Aug. 7—President Roosevelt's stay at his Hudson valley home took on a political hue today when the temporary White House announced that Secretaries Wallace and Hopkins were coming up to see the Chief Executive.

Hopkins, one of the third term managers at the Democratic convention was due today. Wallace, who received the vice presidential nomination at Chicago, has arranged to spend tomorrow afternoon with Mr. Roosevelt.

Wallace's visit will coincide with a political tea and garden party at Mrs. Roosevelt's Valkill cottage.

FILE CHARGE TODAY AGAINST GALION SLAYER

John E. Smith To Face Accusation Punishable by Death Penalty.

A charge of killing an officer in the performance of his duty was to be filed today against John E. Smith, 26 year-old Galion trucker held in Crawford county jail since Saturday in connection with the death of Patrolman Clarence H. Upson, 71, it was announced at Bucyrus today noon by Leo J. Scanlon, Crawford county prosecuting attorney.

Smith was to be charged with first degree murder under a special Ohio statute relating to the death of an officer while on duty. Prosecutor Scanlon said. Under the statute the death penalty is mandatory upon conviction unless mercy is recommended the prosecutor pointed out.

Arraignment Planned

The charge was to be signed by Police Chief George Moody of Galion and be presented in Mayor W. M. King's court at Galion this afternoon according to the prosecutor's announcement. Smith's arraignment probably will not be held until tomorrow when it will be scheduled at the convenience of Mayor King, Prosecutor Scanlon said.

Following preliminary arraignment in the Galion mayor's court the prisoner probably will be bound over to the Crawford county grand jury. Although Prosecutor Scanlon said he wished to bring the case to a speedy trial he did not indicate when the grand jury might meet.

Decision to file the charge today was made despite the fact that the official report of Dr. O. M. Kackley of Galion Crawford county coroner has not been completed. Authorities, however, are going ahead with the case on the basis of the coroner's partial report that Patrolman Upson's death was due to a cerebral hemorrhage caused by a concussion resulting from a fist blow on the temple.

Has Prisoner's Statement

Prosecutor Scanlon earlier reported that he is in possession of a statement from Smith in which the prisoner admitting striking the veteran officer when Upson attempted to dissuade him from driving his automobile. The incident occurred Saturday at a Galion intersection where Upson was directing traffic. The patrolman was dead before the ambulance which removed him reached Good Samaritan hospital.

Funeral services were held yesterday at Galion for the Patrolman. They were conducted at the Volk funeral home. Rev. W. N. Robertson of the First Methodist church was assisted by Rev. H. K. Freeman of the First Baptist church and burial was made in Fairview cemetery.

Patrol Escort

Patrolman T. B. Morgan of the Marion sub station of the highway patrol and fellow officers from the Mansfield substation led the funeral procession to the cemetery. A firing squad of Scarbrough Post, American Legion conducted brief services.

Pallbearers were members of the Galion police department. Chief Moody, Captain James Walker and Patrolmen Guy Lowe, formerly of Marion, Edward Hoekstra, Morris Bowers and Charles Lauer.

DECISION ON ERIE'S REORGANIZATION DUE

Stated After Hearing at Cleveland Next Monday.

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Aug. 7—A federal court decision on historic Erie railroad's reorganization plan will be given some time after a hearing on objections next Monday.

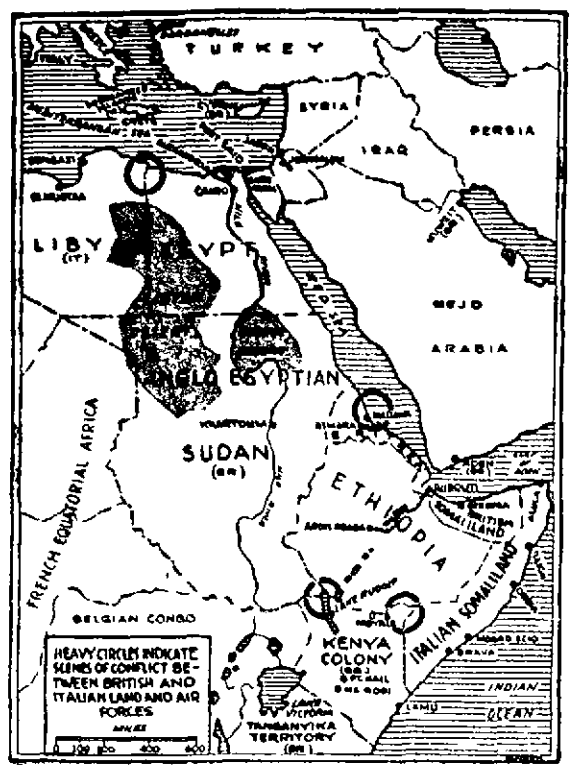
The deadline for objections passed yesterday with only minor groups registering protests. Among these is a bondholders' protective committee representing refunding and improvement mortgage bond holders.

The interstate commerce commission suggested reorganization which would reduce Erie's capitalization from $490,000,000 to $332,000,000. Under the proposal stockholders would receive one share of new common stock for five old shares, and would be entitled to buy ¼ new shares for each old share at $37.17.

Chesapeake & Ohio railroad would be able to maintain its control of Erie through purchase of stock at a cost of $40,000,000 to $45,000,000 under the plan.

If Federal Judge Robert N. Wilkin approves the reorganization plan, it will be submitted to a vote of security holders.

ITALIANS STRIKE AT BRITISH



Reports from the Italian high command claim that Il Duce's armies in northern Africa are taking the offensive against the British bases along the Libyan-frontier. The fighting is being waged under extreme heat (ranging to 140 degrees). The circled portions of the map indicate other points of the Italian-British fight.

History and Geography Both Point To Tough Task for Duce in Egypt

By The Associated Press

Italian invasion of Egypt backed by an army 250,000 strong sharpens the likelihood of full-scale African warfare for great stakes: control of the Suez canal and hegemony over the ancient land which once was the granary of imperial Rome.

But not since 969 A. D., when the Fatimites conquered Egypt has a successful invasion been launched from the west as the Italians now are attempting from Libya. The Fatimites, a West African Mohammedan dynasty succeeded only on the third attempt.

Geography militates against an invader. All the western land of Egypt is a great desert a country of dry defiles of mountainous sand dunes that 'walk' with the wind, of shriveling 120-degree temperatures by day and 40-degree chills by night.

Since the Fatimites' exploit invasion from the west has been attempted only once—the unsuccessful attack by the Senussi brotherhood of Tribesmen in 1915-16.

Stirred up by German and Turkish agents the Senussi struck toward the western Egyptian coastal town of Mersha Matruh. The British, however, scattered the foe with heavy losses.

Those tribesmen, while fully equipped by experience for desert warfare were relatively few. a new question is wether a modern mechanized army can win through the 400 miles from he border to the rich cities of the Nile.

The forces at Britain's disposal are acknowledged to be somewhat smaller than the Italian white and native armies but they are specialists in desert fighting.

Egypt's Status

When Italy entered the war against Britain on June 10, Premier Mussolini said that Egypt had nothing to fear as long as she remained neutral. But Egypt bound by an alliance with Britain severed relations with Italy and announced she would go to war if attacked. Despite the Italian announcement of invasion however, Egypt did not immediately declare war.

Her western border has no natural barriers—except the desert.

But the keys to the west are the five large oases of Siwa, Baharia, Farafra, Dakhla and Kharga.

The Nile valley and delta contrasting greenly with the yellowed desert, is a rich source of food and cotton. In the desert which is 14-15ths of Egypt there are manganese, nitrates, phosphates and precious stones.

Mussolini could use all those things but to get them he would have to conquer a country of 386,000 square miles—more than three times the size of the British Isles and with a population of about 15,000,000.

Apparently timed with the Egyptian invasion is the Italian thrust into British Somaliland 2-000 miles southeast of the mouth of the Nile.

In that craggy area along the Red sea the Gulf of Aden and the Indian ocean the Italians are reported to have another 250,000 men, including many natives.

Little Value Seen

British hold British Somaliland to be of little strategic value. They point out that Italian Somaliland already fronts on the Gulf of Aden and Italian Eritrea on the Red sea so that the Suez canal entrance would be in no more danger even if British Somaliland fell.

Geography would seem to preclude any strong drive against Suez from the east such as the Turks tried in the World war. In that campaign in 1915 the Turks were beaten off in a daring attempt to storm the canal.

TRAFFIC CLUB MEMBERS HERE TODAY FOR OUTING

Members and guests of the Central Ohio Traffic club began arriving at noon today for the club's annual summer outing at the Marion Country club. Early arrivals were taken on a tour of the Erie railroad shops and activity at the country club got underway with golf matches starting at 1 o'clock. The banquet at which golf prizes will be awarded, will be served at the club at 6:30. About 150 visitors were expected to be on hand for the dinner.

Akron Rich in 'Willkie Lore'

By The Associated Press

AKRON, O., Aug. 7 — Akron has become a mecca for seekers of "Willkie lore."

Visitors — reportorial, historical and perhaps political—are seeking out those Akronites who knew Wendell Willkie "when."

The Republican presidential nominee spent 10 years here, arriving in 1919 to join Firestone Tire & Rubber Co.'s legal department. Two years later he entered private practice with N. O. Mather and Roy Nesbitt.

"Mather & Nesbitt took Willkie in and Willkie took Mather & Nesbitt over," an associate of the firm related today. "The show was well worth seeing."

He's a Whirlwind

The new Republican leader was one of the hardest-working and fastest-thinking lawyers this "Rubber City" ever had seen. He could read until 2 a. m., sleep for a few hours, get up and read some more and then go to the office for a 15 to 18-hour day. He took his lunch with him to save the minutes required to step out to a restaurant.

There are a lot of stories about Willkie in law suits.

Once a judge stepped into his chambers for a moment as attorneys were conducting final arguments. An objection was entered. Willkie, standing in the doorway between courtroom and the judge's office, relayed it.

"Oh hell, let them fight it out," the jurist muttered while making up his mind what to say.

Willkie stepped between the attorneys and jury and announced succinctly.

"The judge says 'Oh hell, let them fight it out.'"

Akron knew Willkie as a man who liked to deliver the Gettysburg address and who loved to argue.

Arriving at a party, Willkie

ITALIANS OPEN AFRICAN DRIVE; MENACE SUEZ

British Await Large Scale Drive; Divisions Massed Near Egyptian Border.

By The Associated Press

LONDON, Aug. 7—A concentration of at least two Italian divisions was reported on the Libyan frontier near the Mediterranean coast today and British military circles declared it looks as though the Italians are ready to advance into Egypt in a large scale campaign for realization of one of Mussolini's dreams—possession of Suez.

Official circles at Cairo denied, however, that the Italians already had crossed the frontier.

The only Italian officers presently on Egyptian soil are one general and 818 officers and other ranks—prisoners, said a semi-official statement at British headquarters in Egypt.

(Yesterday's Italian communique said the British were put to flight during a clash of advanced troops beyond the Cirenaican-Libyan border.)

Italy was giving every indication that Mussolini was ready at last to risk the fight which may make or break his African empire.

Military circles in London said the two Italian divisions were concentrated in the Bardia area adjacent to the Egyptian frontier.

British Force Small

This concentration is opposed by a small mobile British force of expert desert fighters who have been carrying out the first phase of the operations in Africa, a sort of guerrilla warfare of lightning raids, skirmishes and reconnaissance expeditions.

Britons were warned today by the Daily Express, which is owned by the minister for aircraft production, Lord Beaverbrook, that they may expect "some Italian successes" in the war in Africa.

These signs of an impending offensive against Egypt, which would have as its ultimate objective the severing of the British empire's control of the eastern Mediterranean, coupled with a triple drive against British Somaliland, raised the belief in many quarters that the axis' next big objective is the continent of Africa.

In the eyes of these observers

Couple at Morral Give $10,000 for Lakeside Church

A gift of $10,000 from Mr. and Mrs. William W. Morral of Morral was one of two heading a list of memorial gifts and pledges totaling $29,241 announced today by the Lakeside Foundation according to an Associated Press report from Lakeside.

The Morral gift was presented to be applied on construction of an educational unit to the proposed Morral Memorial Methodist church at Lakeside.

Mr. and Mrs. Morral have given thousands of dollars to Methodist work, particularly to the children's home at Worthington. They were the first to contribute a substantial gift to the Worthington home and in their honor a brick 'cottage' housing 45 girls, is named the W. W. and Della Morral cottage.

Mrs. Morral said today when questioned as to the latest gift that she had no idea of what their gifts over a period of many years would total.

Erecting of a memorial church at Lakeside has been discussed but as yet definite plans have not been made, according to Mrs. Morral.

The other $10,000 gift announced today was from the Epworth leagues of the Ohio and North-East Ohio conference of the Methodist church for construction of the first dormitory unit of the Rollin H. Walker Epworth Memorial, proposed youth center to be named in honor of Dr. Rollin H. Walker, professor emeritus of Bible at Ohio Wesleyan university.

Mr. Morral and his brother, S. E. Morral operate the Morral Bros. machinery manufacturing business at Morral.

3 DIE IN OHIO POWDER BLAST

Explosion Near Lebanon Blows Bodies Up to Half-Mile Away.

By The Associated Press

LEBANON, O., Aug. 7—One and a half tons of black powder exploded at the King Powder Co. plant in nearby King's Hills today killed three men blew their bodies a quarter to a half mile from the scene and splintered hundreds of windows in the vicinity.

The dead:

Charles Reibols 26, father of three children Hobart Combs, 38, father of two and William Reed, 39, father of four.

The blast, first of fatal consequence in more than 10 years at the plant, occurred in a shack housing a hydraulic powder press, just after the day shift reported for work at 7 a. m. The cause probably never will be known, company officials said.

Fragments of the building were blown a quarter-mile into the air, witnesses reported. A 1,000-pound steel roller, part of the press, was found several hundred yards across the Little Miami river, along which the plant extends for a mile and one-half, and force of the blast splintered windows a mile or more away. The explosion was heard in Milford, 18 miles southwest.

Combs body was found a half-mile away on the far side of the river. Reeds some 700 yards from the scene and that of Reibols about 400 yards distant.

C. G. King, chairman of the board, said the King's mill plant was not operating on government orders and that these "if we have any," were being filled at the firm's Ashland, Ky. factory. There was no reason to suspect sabotage, he added.

Confirming identity of the dead, King said the blast was the first of fatal nature in more than 10 years.

The company founded in 1878, has passed through four generations of the King family.

DELAWARE TO SEND 25 TO HEAR WILLKIE

Reservations Made on Special Train To Come Here.

Robert E. Watson, chairman of the Delaware county Republican central and executive committee, today reserved 25 tickets on the special train which will go from Marion to Elwood, Ind., Aug. 17 for the acceptance speech of Wendell L. Willkie.

French Crow, Marion county chairman, said Mr. Watson would take 25 more if additional space on the train is available later. About half of the 140 places available now have been taken, Mr. Crow reported.

The Marion county chairman also said there is a rush for Willkie campaign buttons in the county and that the supply of 500 has been exhausted. He plans to contact the Columbus office for more.

About 200 of the buttons here came from Michigan state headquarters through a devious route. Mr. Crow's daughter, Eleanor, who is employed in Detroit, knew that her father needed buttons for a recent meeting and called Michigan headquarters which graciously disregarded state lines and sent a supply here.

SENATE GROUP CITES NEED OF TRAINED MEN

Armaments Held Not Enough; "Home Guard" Plan Gains Headway.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7—Prompt enactment of compulsory military training legislation was recommended to the senate by its military committee today with the statement that "reasonable prudence demands an immediate and substantial increase in our armed forces."

"It would be criminal" the committee reported to give the nation a false sense of security by the mere possession of defensive armaments and a corresponding lack of trained men."

Scheduled for consideration tomorrow, the legislation previously had been approved by the committee 35 to 3.

A movement to form a "home guard" composed primarily of World war veterans gathered headway in congress today as the senate approached a vote on the bill permitting the President to order the national guard into active training.

Chairman Sheppard, Democrat of Texas, asked the senate military committee to begin work Friday on legislation authorizing formation of state militia units to replace guardsmen called into federal service.

The measure he told reporters, probably will follow generally plans outlined yesterday by President Roosevelt at a Hyde Park press conference.

Legion, V. F. W. to Help

Mr. Roosevelt said that the organizations probably would be built around a nucleus of trained men furnished by the American Legion and the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Whether the federal government would be called on to furnish equipment and to aid in training the groups is a question yet to be settled, Sheppard said.

Senate debate of the National Guard bill was interupted yesterday by a fiery argument between Senators Holt (D-W Va.) and Minton (D-Ind.) in which the words "liar" and "slacker" were shouted, but leaders set a time limit on speeches in order to get a vote late today.

Passage of the measure would clear the way for opening debate tomorrow on the Burke-Wadsworth conscription bill, which is expected to produce a long and heated controversy.

Sees Close Vote

Senator Burke (D-Neb.), one of the authors, said he thought the real test would come on a substitute submitted by Senator Maloney (D-Conn.) He said a "close vote" was in prospect.

Maloney would delay a selective draft until attempts had been made to obtain sufficient manpower through voluntary enlistments for a year, open to men from 18 through 34.

If the voluntary system failed to produce sufficient men by Jan. 1, conscription would proceed.

Rep. Faddis (D-Pa.) threw a house committee meeting into an uproar yesterday with charges that 'Fifth Columnists" and Nazi agents were fostering opposition to the legislation. The house committee voted to conclude hearings and prepared to work on the bill in closed session.

In the senate, Minton precipitated a heated exchange when he arose to shout, after Holt had attacked the conscription bill, that he was "getting impatient with being lectured by a slacker family."

Calls Them Lies

Holt quickly dubbed "malicious lies" Minton's charges that Holt's father had opposed sending food to the soldiers in France in the World war and Minton's assertion that Holt's brother had been "hidden away" in South America at that time to avoid the draft.

"If ever the administration wants filth to be thrown," Holt added, "they get the senator from Indiana to throw it."

"And," Minton shot back, "when Hitler wants it thrown, you throw it."

"No, no, not at all," Holt replied.

Senator Barkley of Kentucky, the Democratic leader, quieted this outburst, but the argument between the two was resumed later.

MARKET WARY OF INVASION

Stock Prices Stay Steady As Traders Await Germany's Move.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Aug 7—Prices clung doggedly near previous levels in a wary, scant stock market today

Whether Great Britain could withstand the shock of the German attempt at invasion generally believed to be impending was the outstanding question

Representative of the general market movement were the various positions assumed by the steels during the day U S Steel and Bethlehem moved by fractions both below and above yesterday's levels The same applied to Union Carbide General Motors and Montgomery Ward Generally on the downside were DuPont Eastman Westinghouse and Southern Railway

Bonds and commodities followed irregular price trends

The possibility of heightened interest in metal shares was foreshadowed by a reduction of ½ cent a pound to 11 cents in the price of copper

FORECLOSURES HERE FOLLOW STATE TREND

Decrease Is Noted in Forced Sales of Real Estate.

Foreclosure sales of real estate in Marion county have followed a statewide trend in dropping to nearly normal a condition which today brought the announcement that the secretary of state has discontinued publishing statistics listing the sales monthly since 1934

The last state bulletin covering June tranactions shows only 375 parcels sold under the sheriff's hammer They had an appraised value of $2 365 000 and brought $2 161 000

During the worst foreclosure years of 1935 36 37 monthly sales in Onio averaged as high as 1,345 with appraised values ranging as high as $7 726 000 for 1935

Forced sales of urban properties since 1934 were about ten times greater in number than farm holdings In 1935 the monthly average of urban properties foreclosed was 1 229 and farms 118

This year's June forced sales of 375 parcels compared with 595 in June last year The 32 farm foreclosures in June compared with 58 in June last year

Both urban and farm properties showed a slight increase in sales prices for June of this year over the 1939 monthly average

The average sale price of farm lands per acre during June was $40 75 compared with $43.35 in May and the 50 48 monthly average for 1938, the highest during the six years period The June sale price, however was a fraction over the appraised value while the 1938 average sale price was approximately $10 per acre under the appraised value

Rotarians and Wives Visit Club's Annual Camp for Crippled Children

Members of Marion Rotary club their wives and children went to Camp John A. Owens last night to visit the boys and girls of the Crippled Children's school who are at camp this week as guests of the club.

It was an annual affair and altogether there were about 145 men, women and children seated for the 6.30 o'clock dinner served by Chris Turoff, Dr Floyd Yeager, Edwin K Smith, Dr D W Brickley Jr, Wendell Wiant, Harold Carroll Dr John A McNamara, Gene Willey and George Stafford

Dr O M Young chairman of the club's crippled children's committee gave a short talk on the committee's work after the program was opened with a brief talk by George E. Planck, club president

Program Given

The informal program, in charge of George Stafford opened with group singing led by Don Howard with Edgar Bainhart at the piano George Pennington played accordion selections

Dr Carroll Ritchey entertained with feats of magic and Dr B H Morgan recited a poem by Robert Service

Miss Rhea King, who has been in charge of the Crippled Children's school for the last 13 years and who is at the camp as leader this week was introduced, as were her assistants

Eight of the children at camp are victims of infantile paralysis, two are crippled as a result of automobile accidents and the others are either heart or congenital cases

Miss King is being assisted by Miss Ruth Turner and Miss Jean Witt who look after the girls, and Wilbur Evans, Alfred Exton and Wayne Wilks, who are in charge of the boys William Mc Namara is the camp cook

Camp Schedule

The daily schedule is elastic since many times it must be changed to meet the needs of the individuals, but in general it runs as follows

Up at 7 15 morning dip in the pool at 7 30, flag raising at 7 45 breakfast at 8 camp duties such as washing dishes gathering wood and sweeping floors 8 30 9, handicraft from 9 to 10, hikes in the woods from 10 to 11, in the pool again from 11 to 11 30, dinner at 12 rest period from 1 to 2 activities period from 2 to 4 when the children play games, do handicraft work learn the etiquet of displaying the flag and have lessons in social etiquette, swimming from 4 to 4 45 inspection of cabins at 5, followed by a ball game flag lowering ceremony at 5 30 dinner at 6 vesper service at 7 campfire at 8 to bed at 9

Being in the pool is one of of events of each day for the boys and girls, but their big time comes in the campfire period in the evening when they are told stories and join in singing campfire songs according to Miss King

REPORTS OF DROUTH BOOST CORN TRADE

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO Aug 7—An official report of serious drought damage to corn in many sections of the feed-grain belt gave strength to the corn market today

Corn prices had advanced ¾ cent a bushel on early reports of cool clear dry weather but later the market reacted to near yesterday's close After the government report told of extensive heat and drought damage to the crop even in Iowa where recent rains were believed to have been in time to prevent injury prices jumped upward The forecasts were that prevailing weather conditions would continue over the corn belt

Corn finished at approximately the day's highest levels and 1-1⅞ cents higher than yesterday's finish September 61¾-⅞ December 57 and wheat was unchanged to ¼ up September 74¼ ⅝ December 75⅝-¼ oats 1-1¼ advanced rye up ⅜-½ and provisions 17-20 lower

CORN LOAN PLAN ANNOUNCED TODAY

Designed To Extend Aid on Sealed Grain.

A federal corn loan renewal program designed to maintain America's granary at a normal level as a national defense measure and to help minimize the damaging effects of the recent heat wave was announced today by C P Harper, chairman of the Marion county agricultural conservation committee

Under the renewal program, farmers who have federal loans on 1938 and 1939 corn crops may reseal the corn for one or two year periods and receive extra allowances Mr Harper reported. If the corn is resealed for one year, an allowance of five cents a bushel will be added to the original rate of 57 cents. If resealed for two years a 10-cent allowance will be granted making a total of 67 cents a bushel In addition, all interest due up to Aug 1, 1940, will be cancelled if the corn is resealed

The same conditions under which the corn was originally sealed will prevail for the resealing program Mr Harper said.

The Stars Say—

For Thursday, Aug 8

A MODERATELY active and successful state of affairs is read from interesting astral influences The mind will vibrate to a high pitch of novelty and ingenuity with the probability of new and strange adventures in which employers or those of financial influence will be disposed to take a generous hand Nevertheless there are some indications of disappointment, loss or reversals And a tendency to be lavish in expenditures should be subdued Taking a bold chance might prove hazardous

Those whose birthday it is may look for a moderately successful year if they will be determined about big business coups either in speculation or perilous investments No time for gambling, although the mind will be strongly bent in the direction of audacious spending especially in projects of novelty or boldly constructive efforts or inventions

A child born on this day may have unusual mental ability especially in the direction of bold and thrilling new adventures

GALION SCHOOL OPENING SET

Board Decides on Sept. 9, Hires Several Teachers in Planning New Year.

Special to The Star

GALION, Aug. 7 — Including approval of several teacher appointments and acceptance of several resignations, the Galion board of education had much business to transact preparatory for the school year which will start Sept. 9, the date the board set, at the August meeting Tuesday night.

The school calendar which also was approved will allow for a Thanksgiving vacation, Nov. 28 and 29; a two weeks' vacation at Christmas time, Dec 23 to Jan. 6, and a spring vacation of one week, April 4 to April 14.

After considerable discussion, the board accepted the resignation of Walter F. VonBrock, school music supervisor here for the past six years, who only Tuesday asked that he be released from his contract to accept a position as instrumental music supervisor in the Elyria schools The Galion board will have to employ a successor to VonBrock, who has made an unusual record here, within the next four weeks

Leaves of absence were granted to Lura Dunning, Ruth Barrett and Marguerite Weichel, elementary teachers, for one year. Resignations accepted besides that of VonBrock, were Virginia Sydenstricker, girls' physical education teacher who was married recently; Miss Weichel and Miss Barrett.

The board approved the following appointments: Robert Brown, coach and social science teacher, at $1,475 He has been coaching at Iberia for the past two years. Jeanette Slocum at $1,400 for the assistant music supervisor position, succeeding Winifred Schamp who resigned to continue her education at Ohio State university. Miss Slocum is a resident of Springfield and received her degree from Northwestern university and has been teaching at Mechanicsburg. Bessie Swinehart of Somerset, was employed as elementary teacher at $1,275. She was graduated from Ohio university. Miriam Reynolds of Crestline, who has been teaching at Wellsville and had three years' training at Kent State university, was employed as elementary teacher at $1,100.

The board also approved Superintendent O E Hill's appointment of Mary Ann Casey and Eleanor Cronenwett as senior and junior high school secretaries, respectively.

Following a report of the high school shop coordinator, Charles Aplan, the board decided to purchase two welding machines for $432 Aplan told of the success of the shop department and also of the defense training program under which there are now 72 enrolled.

There was another report given by B W. Myers, playground supervisor for the summer, which revealed that there were 265 youngsters participating in the organized play program, with an average daily attendance of 130

PAID VACATIONS SET BY GALION COUNCIL

City Workers To Benefit Under Legislation.

Special to The Star

GALION, Aug. 7 — Vacations with pay for city employe groups, were established at Tuesday night's city council meeting.

One ordinance passed by council provides a vacation of 14 days with pay for employes of the police and fire departments who have been in service for one year or more.

Another vacation ordinance passed was that providing seven days vacation with pay, after one year of service, for employes in the water, electric light, utilities and service departments.

An ordinance which would allow for a five-cent per hour increase for all employes of the water department, electric light and power department and the street department, was given its first reading.

For the purpose of additional improvements to the Galion Municipal Light and Power Plant, an ordinance was passed for issuance of notes in anticipation of the issuance of bonds in the amount of $92,000 The bonds are to be dated Jan 1, 1941, and the notes, Sept. 1, 1940.

Council passed a supplemental appropriation ordinance shifting $350 from the general fund for the purpose of dredging Whetstone creek, and for $400 from the general fund to the police pension fund

Council also passed a resolution authorizing the Director of Public Service, Jay Nichols, to advertise for bids for the purchase of 1210 tons bituminus top course for Summit, North Ribiet and Clymer streets.

DELAWARE FUEL MEASURE OPPOSED BY TRUCKERS

Special to The Star

DELAWARE, O., Aug. 7—Objection of rural truckers to a city weighmaster is the first active opposition Delaware city council faces to the new solid fuel licensing ordinance.

C. E Rogers of west of Delaware and Jerry Covert of east of Delaware appeared before council Monday night and objected to a section of the ordinance which provides that those who haul coal to a customer within the city limits must have their truck weighed on scales within the city by a certified weighmaster.

Both men said they had scales as accurate as those owned by coal dealers in Delaware and that they "were just as honest" business men They said they objected to paying a weighing fee for each load of coal they might haul into the city and said it would require them to make extra trips to the weighmaster for each little sale of coal

The section under fire was referred to the law and ordinance committee of council for consideration

GREEN CAMP FESTIVAL DROPPED FOR THIS YEAR

Special to The Star

GREEN CAMP — Due to the uncertainty of improvement of Route 739 through the village, it was decided Monday at a meeting of the Commercial club to postpone the corn show and festival this year. Plans for next year's show will be discussed at the next meeting. It was tentatively decided to erect horseshoe courts on one of the streets, and to have weekly contests. Saturday evening street dances will be a feature in the near future.

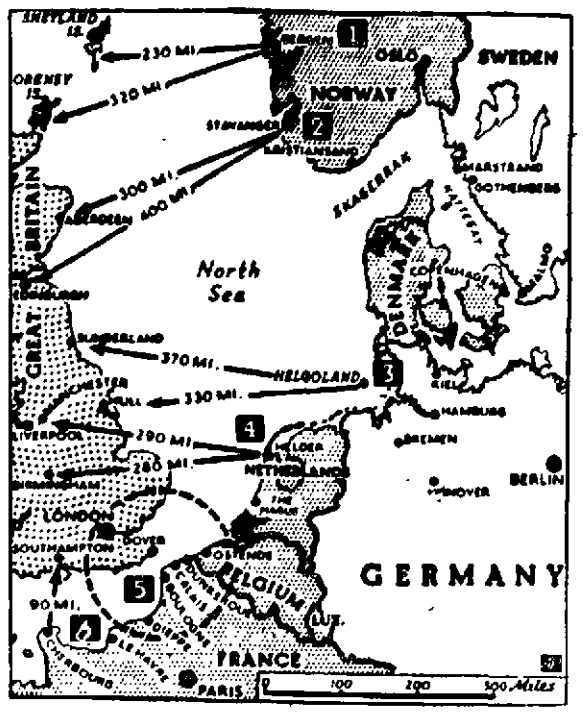
NAZIS TEST SPRINGBOARDS OF WAR



The British press has warned its readers that German raids of the past few weeks have been little more than tests of the blitzkrieg springboards set up in Nazi occupied territory. This Associated Press map indicates six bases, five of them on captured territory, which may be used when the "real attack of waves of 500 planes" gets underway. Northeast England and Scotland are threatened from bases at Bergen (1) and Stravanger (2) The Helgoland base (3) is within bomber range of East Coast ports, while Helder (4) threatens industrial centers The nearby channel ports (5) may be the hopping off place for actual invasion, although Cherbourg (6) is only 90 miles from Southampton (Associated Press Photo)

40 July Building Permits Highest for Month Since 1929

Marion building permits set a new record during July when 40 were issued, City Clerk Walter S Guthrie reported today. This is the largest number of permits issued during any one month since 1929.

Although the total estimated cost of the 40 new projects, $19,725, is not particularly high in comparison to figures for other recent months, records show that virtually the entire amount represents new homes or improvement of residential property. Only one permit, for $350, was taken out for commercial building work

The July permits brought the figures for building announced during the first seven months of 1940 to $161,417 as compared to the total of $114,664 for all 12 months last year Previously the 1939 figure had been the highest for any one year since the depression started.

Four permits were issued for large and medium-sized residences, including one to Virginia W Torrance for a $6,000 home on Brightwood drive, one to Bess C. and P. A Lashley for a $3,000 home on Forest Lawn boulevard, another to Emmett and Elizabeth McGrath for a $2,000 home on Forest Lawn boulevard and one to Anna Belser for a $2,000 bungalow on Pennsylvania avenue

DELAY EXPLAINED BY WPA DIRECTOR

Shortage of Blanks Holds Up Certification.

Marion county residents whose applications for WPA jobs have been delayed in the last three weeks or so were advised today by Relief Director Frank S. Burns that they may have to wait even longer

The trouble lies in the fact that the WPA referral office here has run out of WPA forms on which applicants must swear to American citizenship and give the oath of allegiance These requirements were effective July 1 and the meager supply of forms here has long since been exhausted.

"I have written and called the Columbus WPA office," Mr. Burns said, but added that nobody knows how soon blanks may be expected here

Without the blanks, it is impossible for his office to complete applications for WPA work and send them in to Columbus About 30 applications are pending

Mr Burns also issued a statement clarifying the position of the city-county relief office with regard to WPA

It is merely a referral office where applications for WPA work are taken The applications are submitted to Columbus and there officials decide whether the applicant should be accepted or rejected and whether the worker should be assigned to a project. The Marion office has nothing to do with certification or assignment. Mr Burns said Neither has it any control over reduction of personnel on projects

No employe of the city or county relief administrations is authorized to discuss employment on WPA projects, Mr Burns said.

CHAPTER THIRTY-EIGHT

The Vanishing Notebook

How did you get here? I demanded
ed out' he whispered coming sardonically 'Sent for a taxi and the darn
the door unlocked.'
You're walking right
I told him grimly 'Of fool stunts! Climb out room window on the side or me in Adam's car
kes to the garage cell p an eye out for the sentry along the back row"

He did not argue with me Maybe he thought if I knew as much as Sandra I might be equally dangerous At any rate, he departed informally by the window and I had just started into the bedroom to latch the screen after him when Felicia came in

"Anything I can do" she asked

I pretended I was coming out of the bedroom instead of going in

"No thanks I've been sorting something I felt at the Pennants, my papers and just remembered I said inventing hastily 'I'd better go for it right now, before they go to bed I'll take Adam's car

What if she should offer to go with me? I held my breath, but she didn't. I opened the door and held it for her then I turned off the light and went out, closing the door behind me '

Guess I'll get out of this girdle she said with a yawn I'll probably read for a while but if I'm asleep when you come in your bed is the one farthest from the door And for gosh sake don't creep in quietly unless you want me to wake up and scream my head off

Jeff was sitting dutifully in the car I backed it out and turned it down the row toward the hospital

For a girl you've got guts he observed presently How do you know I'm not a murderer?

I don't know it I hope for Julia's sake you're not But walking out of the prison ward tonight isn't going to make matters look any better for you

'If Dan had put me in arrest in quarters I would have stayed there he said resentfully I guess he really thinks I killed her It's funny how few people will keep on believing in you when things look black Sandra certainly acted as if she thought I killed Ivan But if she did why did she marry me?

Now you're asking something You said awhile ago that it wasn't for love There aren't many reasons for a woman marrying a man she doesn't love and you can sum them up in one word—gain

But what would she gain through me? I haven't anything but my pay and she was pretty well fixed financially At least she ought to have been You don't spend twenty thousand dollars in a couple of years—not without having something to show for it

Painful Subject

Jeff You don't suppose she gambled it away on the market?

No She doesn't know a stock from a bond

But did she ever tell you how it was invested or how much income she has?

Not me I wouldn't have listened I didn't want anything to do with it If my father wanted her to have it—

He stopped but not before bitterness had crept into his voice again

I hesitated for a moment but something made me pursue the painful subject

Julia tells me your father left you a house in Memphis and your great grandfather's farm in the Ozarks

The Memphis house is so heavily mortgaged even the bank won't take it over And the Ozark property—maybe you don't know it but land up there isn't worth the paper the deed is written on I pay the taxes on it for sentimental reasons The old gentleman loved it and Julia and I had fun there when we were kids There's another nice little trait of Sandra's she never even saw the place but she was plenty sore when she found out that I've willed it to Julia You'd think she'd be satisfied—

Wait a minute I said my breath coming a little uneven I slowed the car to a crawl Are you sure that property is worth less?

'No doubt about it—nothing but rocks and hills Why?

'But is there anything Sandra might have got hold of that you didn't know—a railroad, or some project like Boulder Dam, or oil—— Oh, I don't know anything about real estate, but mightn't there be some reason for Sandra to think it was valuable?"

You don't dam a brook," he said. He sounded grimly amused. Neither do you build railroads where there's no place to go And there's no oil in those parts that I ever heard of But as far as Sandra is concerned maybe you've got something That girl was the most credulous fool I've ever encountered She could believe anything If she was any kin to us I'd say she got it from the old gentleman himself He swore until the day he died that there was silver on the place He kept sending samples to be assayed and tearing up the reports when they came——

His voice trailed off

And if Sandra had ever heard that story she would have believed it? I asked tensely

She might I suppose Even Father liked to toy with the idea though he knew better He always said he'd go back when he was retired and spend a little money proving to his own satisfaction that there was nothing there Maybe he talked to Sandra at the last—maybe he got to believing it himself Anyway she and I quarreled about it when we were first engaged and almost as soon as she got here last week she was at me again to change my will I didn't thing even she would be that cheap

Did you change it?

'No Why should I? Julia has never known anything about it but I intend her to have the place if anything happens to me Then when Sandra practically accused me of killing Ivan I told her that finished things as far as I was concerned I'd married her but I didn't propose to pay any more for her silence She ran to you to make it appear I suppose that the breach was of her making And it was part of her spite to go to the reception with a black eye Kay I swear I didn't even know she had it until right there on the front walk when she took off that scarf thing she was wearing

'Just Bluffing'

She was shut in the bedroom with a headache when I came home at noon and after duty she was still in there She had laid my things out in the sitting room so after dinner I dressed in there and got out I never had a good look at her or I wouldn't have let her go a step

I felt like blacking the other eye when I got her home That was when she told me it wouldn't do me any good to kill her After she went off to your room I looked through everything she had because I thought if she was leaving anything written down in those rooms that nosey hostess or one of the orderlies would be into it But I didn't find anything That's why I thought about the shorthand notebook Only I can't read shorthand so I wasn't any better off when I found it Can you? Do you know what was in it

Just some dictation I gave her That's all as far as I know I can read it fairly well if it's Gregg But I haven't looked at it I'll see when I get back But I think she was just bluffing don't you?

God knows It doesn't pay to take chances with people like her

The prison ward was on the ground floor of the west wing At Jeff's suggestion I parked by the side entrance got out and went in

The sentry was sitting in front of the door to the ward his face as white as chalk He jumped a foot when I hissed at him and came at me with his hand on the butt of his automatic

You haven't reported Lieutenant Tack missing? I whispered and I thought the man was going to faint It's all right sentry he's out in the car We were hoping he could get back without anyone knowing

The enlisted man took his hand off the gun and brought out a handkerchief with which to mop his brow He became suddenly garrulous in a strained whisper

Listen I just missed him see? I come back with that tray and the room was dark and he had rolled a blanket up on the bed so I think he's asleep see? Then I get to thinking about me leaving that door unlocked and about two minutes ago I reaches in and turns on the light Lady I'm in the lieutenant's troop I was going to wait to report it until I seen the Officer of the Guard comin down the hall He's due any time now Lady I sure am glad you bring him back

I saw Jeff safely behind that door locked this time then I drove back to the club It must be nearly ten o'clock and I still had my packing to do and that shorthand notebook to inspect

The rejected manuscript was on the seat beside me I had found myself still treasuring its hampering shape when I followed Jeff out to the garage I had clung to it unconsciously while all the time my mind was on other things

I put the car in the garage collected manuscript and pocketbook locked the garage and went back to my rooms It did not occur to me to be frightened a second time My mind was on the shorthand notebook I was thinking ironically that I had practically pledged myself to keep a secret that I had broadcast a couple of hours ago

But when I turned on the light and went to look for it the shorthand notebook was gone

BRITAIN OPTIMISTIC OVER FOOD SUPPLIES

By The Associated Press

LONDON Aug 7 — Britain faced approaching winter food problems optimistically today although she put teeth in enforcement of her food-conserving regulations and acknowledged new blows to her merchant marine by Germany's air and sea blockaders

Robert Boothby, parliamentary undersecretary of the food ministry said it hoped to avoid winter extension of rationing and even to increase tea allowances

An order effective Aug 12 however will make it punishable by imprisonment up to two years and fines up to $2 000 to waste food which Britain now defines as everything, except water, "used by man for food or drink."

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Madge and Lillian Perfect Their Plan To House the Feminine Contingent During the Expected Siege

LILIAN rose from her chair and made me a sweeping curtsey.

Your arrangement is perfect, she said with generous enthusiasm; puts it all over mine. It gets all the people who have to be taken care of in set places where we can grab 'em at a second's notice and groups all the able bodied guardians in the front of the room ready to start sounding the alarm siren at any second.

I'm glad you like it, I said. But I really didn't mean—

Don't waste your breath on silly excuses, she said. We haven't time for 'em. We have to make the rounds and explain to everybody that they're to get themselves into a state of preparedness and about the change in sleeping quarters. Lucky we haven't any silly fussers in this house and the only neurotic is Ede.

I think she'll be all right in the face of real emergency, I said. And if she isn't Miss Whitlock is a host in herself. She'll manage her.

Yes, we don't need to worry about that end of it, she agreed. But here's another thought. Now mind you, I don't believe your father thinks there's one chance in a thousand of Jack Leslie's trying to set the house on fire, but very properly he's taking no precautions and this library wing at the side of the house is the safest place.

Katie's Treasures

I was thinking of Katie's reaction when I tell her to pack her treasures, I said and she laughed gustily.

You'll have to limit her, she said, or we won't be able to squeeze in here. Tell her she can bring the equivalent of two suitcases in here—the rest she'll have to store in the kitchen.

Both she and I will have something to do before we pack our treasures, I said with a look around the room. Ten cots besides Mother Graham's couch. Faith's extra crib and a real bed for Edith have to be set up and made up with bed clothing.

Yes, I suppose Ede's sick enough to rate a real bed," she said, but I sure grudge it to her. To think with all the rest of your worries you have that cobra on your hands!

Don't let the thought of her bother you, I advised laughing. She isn't worrying me.

Well! after all she's your funeral, she said wrinkling her nose at me. But how come you figure that you and Katie will have this work here to yourselves. I'm an able bodied person and so is Mary. And Katrina can park Faith with Mother Graham and Press Junior and Roderick into service. They can save us a lot of leg work. Of course the royal women would only be in the way.

Work To Do

I think Olga would give a good account of herself, I told her. But—haven't you forgotten that Father strictly stipulated everybody must stay behind locked doors except when summoned to meals? Katharine must stay with the children and he especially doesn't want Mary anywhere outside her room and Noel's protection.

It had slipped my alleged mind, she said with a rueful grin. We're going to need stout arms and I don't mean maybe. Jim will be busy with the men. I suppose you could call on him for the heaviest lifting.

We won't need to, I said with decision. There aren't any heavy bed frames or springs, nothing that two able bodied women can't get downstairs. The work will be tedious but not back breaking.

Adolf and the Lion

IF, as experts now seem certain, the climax of the battle of Britain is at hand, a neglected aspect of the situation can stand pointing out.

Adolf Hitler, contrary to a recent impression, is not infallible in his decisions. He does not know the answers while other men are still trying to understand the problem. He has had amazing luck at guessing. Hitler may be the counterpart of Napoleon Bonaparte, but Napoleon lost his last battle.

When Hitler was prodding the nationalism of Germany into fury he never contemplated the crucial test which his leadership now faces in the battle of Britain. He planned the conquest of eastern Europe and reduction of France to a secondary power by holding it helpless behind the Sigfried line. He hoped to reach an understanding with Great Britain.

According to what Hitler, himself, has written and said—the basis of his political power in Germany—events have worked out to his disadvantage. If France had not been so ineffectual, if Britain had waked up sooner, Hitler would now be a discredited leader. The weakness of the nation which tried to upset the Nazi applecart is the only reason it is still rolling. Theoretically, it should have been stopped in France. In his wildest speculations, Hitler never dreamed of rolling it across the English channel. Yet, he must do exactly that in the late summer or early fall of 1940, or stand discredited. In the exact meaning of a famous American expression, Adolf Hitler has a bear by the tail; in this case it happens to be a lion.

Spare the Voters

ONE of the rough spots in the cheaper, cleaner political campaigns Sen. Hatch would like to bring about is difficulty of enforcement. A particularly touchy problem has arisen already.

With national committees limited to $3,000,000, Henry P. Fletcher sent aloft a trial balloon by saying contributions to state and local committees would be counted separately, whereupon the attorney general's office obligingly let it be known that this would be held contrary to the law.

While lawyers are straightening out the quibble over what the law means, a little consideration might be given to voters. They liked the idea of the first Hatch act because it queered the New Deal technique of having bureaucrats hand out public money, campaign cards, cigars and anything else which filled the purpose with the same hand. They liked the idea of the second Hatch act because it put a lid on spending and a limit on individual contributions, striking at the Republican party's traditional excesses.

If the politicians want to keep their noses clean and ride into the campaign of 1940 like shining crusaders they'll all go on record against furtive moves to circumvent the rules. The first time one of them gets caught with his hand in a pocket barred by law, voters are going to be disappointed deeply—deeply enough to throw out a lot of office seekers on their ears.

Reciprocal Insults

TWICE in the space of a week Great Britain has taken a page from the book of the "dynamic" states. First it announced in an offhand manner that it was going to blockade all European ports. Germany was furious. Then it announced it was arresting all the Japanese it could lay its hands on, presumably with the idea of cuffing them around. Japan was furious. Japan was flabbergasted. Apparently, Englishmen had forgotten they were supposed to be gentlemen.

Japan is occupied currently with cuffing around Englishmen; it has been leading up to an international incident by leaps and bounds ever since the Konoye cabinet took over. It is talking loudly about making a holy alliance with Germany, Italy and Russia. It is talking about throwing Englishmen out of the orient, feet first. It is thinking up names to call them at the rate of a new insult every minute. In all the ways known to the master "dynamists" of Europe, Japan is making life unpleasant for the British in Asia—and plainly is planning to make life unsafe as well.

The faint cheer which goes up as the British demonstrate to the Japanese what it's like to become victims of an international incident issues from the throats of everybody getting fed up with an insulting technique a little too crude to be called expert.

News Behind the News

Nazi Financial Scheme To Choke France Reported in News from Europe.

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7 — A typically Nazi scheme to choke France with velvet gloves is recounted in official reports here that have escaped the censor. With half a bow to justice the armistice terms called for the French to pay the cost of German occupation. A ratio of money exchange was effected whereby the invaders were to receive 20 francs for one mark. That sounded relatively painless too, as the franc had been selling at a little more than two cents and the mark was theortically worth 40 cents.

Paul Mallon

But the Germans issued a special kind of mark for this swapping business. They created a long name for it (reichkassanscheiner, meaning approximately cash tokens) but neglected to create any reserve, as is their custom. Actually their mark had no value except that which Hitler might care to call it from day to day. French merchants have been compelled to give 20 francs value for these marks. They do not lose as they can go to the bank of France and get 20 francs back.

During the first few weeks of occupation the bank of France was loaded up with 500 million marks in this manner. What to do with them? Some say Hitler may allow the bank to buy goods from him but he has not said so and the price he fixes on his products for the deal will determine how much France loses. Actually no one knows the situation believes Hitler will give anything at all to the bank, which is expected to take a total loss.

Thus do the ingenious devices of modern conquest stealthily exact their toll. Thus can Hitler drain the wealth and substance of France to whatever decree he cares to issue reichkassanscheiners and impose them upon the bank of France.

Soldiers' Purchases

Hitler apparently had been paying his soldiers in these marks and they have been "buying up everything in France." Some of their purchases are being shipped back to Germany to their families and friends, where the competition is reported to have inspired the anxiety of German merchants.

So far the purchases have been restricted largely to consumers goods. No buying of real estate has been reported. But the open end of the situation would permit Germans to buy their way into French businesses at greatly reduced rates.

Starvation Threat

Starvation is riding the winds behind the Nazi army in Europe. Advices that circumvent the news restrictions have informed officials here that Belgium has been hardest hit and large cities in the other invasion areas are suffering. European production of bread grains, wheat and rye, will be 15 per cent below normal. Both Germany and Italy stored heavily in these products before the war. Considerable portions are reported to have been damaged, however, by improper storage during unexpected rains last week. Even with these stores, supplies are calculated 10 per cent below normal. If these stocks could be adequately distributed, there would be little suffering, but communications are so disorganized that it is difficult for the refugees to get what is available.

Armies of occupation are reported subsisting on supplies in the occupied areas which further intensifies conditions.

Profits Tax

It was Mr. Roosevelt in person who stood invisible but unshakable behind the treasury in insisting on an excess profits tax in the same bill as amortization amelioration. The congressional leaders were eager to inspire speed in the national defense program by granting reasonable depreciation allowances at once. The President refused to agree unless an excess profits tax were enacted at the same time.

Notes To Willkie, et al

Writer Passes on Free Advice for What It's Worth.

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON—Note to Wendell L. Willkie: If you go through with that "factory door campaign" idea you are talking about, won't you be taking a leaf from the campaign tactics of your young floor manager, Gov. Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota."

That 33-year-old South St. Paul flash waged his campaign for the governorship on a shoestring and used a back door and street corner method of campaigning. He climbed into a car and covered his state like a midday sun. He traveled more than 50,000 miles and averaged about nine speeches a day, nearly always to small groups— often no larger than those which might assemble on any street corner at lunch time.

Jack Stinnett

It was effective for Stassen, too. He knocked a powerful political organization into a cocked hat and swept into office with so many votes to spare, they tell me, that the old-time politicians out that way haven't recovered yet.

Whether you, Mr. Willkie, can use that same method as effectively by rapping on factory doors and calling out the workingmen for one of your informal chats is another question. It'll sure take a heap of travelin' between August and November to get around to even a small percentage of the factory doors in this country.

If you want a little advice from somebody who doesn't know anything about campaigning (although I hear that's the kind you are getting most of), here it is: The political tabulators around here are saying you need only about five to seven million votes over the "normally Republican" variety to win. And since there are about 10,000,000 unemployed, why don't you make your speeches before closed factory doors?

New Formula

Note to Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel of Texas: Is it true what they say about O'Daniel?

One of the boys tells me that in this year of unorthodox politicking, you went right out and told the good people of Texas, "The reason that I want to be re-elected is that I've been a failure"?

If that's how it was, governor, you certainly get the pattie.l paint for the most unorthodox campaign ever to net victory this year. Of course, I understand you explained that the reason you had failed in your own estimation was because the voters didn't give you a legislature. But that's just heaping it on. Who ever heard of man winning a campaign by belaboring the electorate?

(Note to readers: This isn't Governor O'Daniel's first venture in political unorthodoxy by any means. A couple of years ago, he was a radio flour salesman and just happened to mention in one of his broadcasts that with 12 or 13 candidates out for governor, he thought he might get in the race himself. The mail response to that was terrific. O'Daniel got convinced and jumped in. He waged a campaign with hill-billy music, on a platform of "the Ten Commandments and $30 every month for the old folks.")

Boys Outsmarted

Note to Gen. George C. Marshall, army chief of staff: When Congress acts on the President's request for authority to call out the national guard and reserve officers for military duty, you are probably going to have about 30 or 40 unhappy Washington newspapermen on your hands.

When things begnn looking so black a few months back, about that many boys around here, with military experience, dashed down to the war department and got themselves reserve commissions or got their reserve commissions renewed. They were going to be smart. If war came, they were going to be officers. Now, if and when the President calls up the reserves, those boys have got to do a year's service. Are they mad!

Political Note

The two most attractively presented pieces of 1940 campaign literature are books by Gracie Allen and W. C. Fields.

"How To Become President," Gracie's roundabout title, is only a suggestion of what she has to tell. "A few dollars down, a few dollars a month, and before you know it the battleship is ours"—is a sample.

Fields is more direct. "Fields For President" is his bid for literary profit in a campaign year. "Sentiment or no sentiment," he writes, "Dolly Madison's wash must be removed from the East room."

Stuff like this may bother historians, in case something happens to rob them of a chance to study first-hand a country which made the remarkable discovery that the best way to keep from taking politics too seriously was not to take politics too seriously.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

It was Saturday, Aug. 7, 1920.

In a ceremony at the Dayton fairgrounds James M. Cox, governor of Ohio, was formally notified of his nomination as Democratic candidate for President of the United States. The notification address was made by Senator Joseph Robinson of Arkansas. Among the guests of honor were Franklin D. Roosevelt, Democratic vice presidential nominee, and George White of Marietta, O., chairman of the Democratic national committee.

August 28 was set as the date for the visit of the first delegation from outside Ohio to the front porch campaign of Senator Warren G. Harding. The date was fixed after a group of Indianians headed by Elias J. Jacoby, former Marion man and law partner of the late Vice President Charles W. Fairbanks, visited Mr. Harding in an effort to receive the distinction of sending the first out-of-state delegation here. Other visitors at the Harding campaign headquarters included J. R. McCarl of Nebraska, executive secretary of the national Republican congressional committee, and Herbert E. Corey, noted war correspondent.

U. S. Pays Better

PANAMA CITY, R. P. — Increased employment in the current labor boom of the adjacent American Canal Zone has become so lucrative that even Panamanian judges of law are forsaking their official jobs for laboring positions paid by Uncle Sam.

According to information received by the Department of Government and Justice, many town justices of interior villages are resigning from their jobs and hastening to secure eligibility employment cards with the United States central labor office in Balboa, Canal Zone.

The Panamanian supreme court has been advised that the shortage of judges in interior towns has become serious with justices forsaking their $5.00 to $30.00 monthly positions for Canal Zone laboring jobs which pay from $50 to $100 monthly.

Essential Freedom

Some Phases of New Deal Called Contrary to Basic Rights.

By GUS DYER

Professor of Economics and Sociology, Vanderbilt University

IN THE language of an old Negro preacher in describing the mission of John the Baptist, President Roosevelt's summary of "essential freedoms" is "short but brief." His five essentials of peace and good government are, (a) freedom of information; (b) freedom of religion; (c) freedom of expression; (d) freedom from fear of want; (e) freedom from the fear of attack.

If the New Deal is to be consistent it must modify and curtail the President's "short but brief" summary. New Deal leaders must not forget, for example, the words of the president of the American Newspaper Publisher's association when he talked about "the attempt to throttle the press by license." New Deal leaders responsible for its labor policies must also not forget their attitude toward "freedom of expression."

Labor Law Theory

Modern labor law theory of freedom of expression is one-sided and decidedly partisan. It holds that freedom of expression should be maintained for members of the C.I.O. who contributed more than a half million dollars to the New Deal campaign in 1936, but under the Wagner law those who employ the members of the C.I.O. are prohibited from expressing their opinions to their own employes with reference to things that are vital to the welfare of the business from which the employes get their living.

The right to work is a fundamental human right. But under the New Deal wages and hours law, untrained, inefficient, slow workers whose production capacity is small are prohibited from securing employment and making an honest living because they are unable to earn 40 cents an hour. This law gives the strong a monopoly on the jobs that are open at the expense of the weak and unfortunate. The weak are denied the freedom of work because they are weak.

The President may, but the New Deal evidently doesn't, believe in constitutional industrial freedom nor in constitutional freedom of contract. Under the Wagner law and the wages and hours law, American citizens are denied the freedom to go on the open market and sell their services to those who want them at the market price. Employers are prohibited from employing workers they want, and forced to keep workers they don't want. Workers are prohibited from accepting employment from employers who are anxious to engage their services because C.I.O. officials object to their employment. This condition, antagonistic to the very foundation of industrial freedom, has been brought about by the New Deal.

Other Dangers

Freedom from fear of attack by Germany is not nearly so vital to business as freedom from fear of attacks on constitutional rights, or continuation of economic quackery, and the wild policy of extravagance and waste that threatens the nation with bankruptcy.

One important thing that American business needs today, and economic recovery must wait for, is freedom from the fear of inflation, the fear that the 50 million savings bank and time depositors and the holders of 120 million insurance policies will lose billions of their savings by being paid off in cheap irredeemable paper money.

The Turps

Ethel's Good Deed is Telling a low Named Grooch He's Off K on "God Blass America."

By DAMON RUNYON

Mr. Joe Turp Writes From Brooklyn

DEAR SIR: Last night I took my wife to a movie and there was a stage and a dame came out and sang God America. Then she ses she wanted ever in the house to join her in singing it all stood up and sang it and all the time kept looking at a big fat guy standing alongside her singing with his mouth wide open and and when the song was finished she ses goodness gracious.

I ses what is wrong sweets? She ses nothing Joe. I guess you did not hear what I did. Then she looked at the fat guy again and he ses lady do you see anything wrong with me? Ethel ses o no sir. He ses well I noticed you looking at me when I was singing and you looked at me again just now and I heard your crack to that fellow with you so I am just asking. Ethel ses no sir I do not see thing wrong with you.

He ses maybe it was my singing? Was something wrong with that? Ethel ses you was off key. It spoiled my own si People who cannot carry a tune shoul spoil other singing. The fat guy ses I am as good a singer as there is in our borhood. I ses now nix Ethel nix. I ses difference does it make how the guy Ethel ses why Joe it makes no differenc he asked me and I told him. I ses all then lets watch the picture.

WHEN the picture was over and we going out the fat guy came up alo us and ses I beg your pardon. My na Grooch and I am in the insurance bu I would like to speak to this young lad I ses that is my wife, Judge. I ses my is Joe Turp. He ses pleased to mee Mister and Missus Turp. I want to talk lady about my singing just now. She was off key.

I ses well Colonel I didn't hear you cannot say and Ethel ses Joe he was t flat. Here is the way he was singing. the mountains. To the prarairie. Here way he should sing it. From the mou To the prairie. Do you see the differen ses for heaven's sake Ethel don't sing on in the street that way. You will have a around us in no time.

The fat guy ses yes maybe we had step over to Grogans and you be my I have always been proud of my singin I want to find out where I was wrong. no thanks I think we better run on hom Ethel ses Joe he is perfectly right. He to find out about his singing so he will around disturbing people who know h sing God Bless America the right way.

So we went to Grogans and sat down table and Grooch ordered some beer and wiches and then he ses now lady wi sing that for me again? So Ethel star sing God Bless America and Grooch join There was a crowd up at the bar and they heard Ethel singing they came b our table and started singing with he Grooch but pretty soon she stopped an its no use sir. You are still off key.

HE seemed like a nice guy so I ses Lieu maybe God Bless America is not jus song. I ses what is your best hold an He ses well I do pretty good on Home Range. I ses Ethel you sing that wil So Ethel sang Home on the Range. came in pretty fair on that one but the from the bar insisted on singing it to they made a lot of noise so finally came up and wanted to know if we wer ing to make a joint out of his place.

Then when he saw Ethel he asked sing When Irish Eyes Are Smiling, a sang it with her because that is Gr favorite song. I helped with it myself did Grooch and everybody else in the and Ethel ses Mister Grooch you are fine and he wanted to buy some more be Ethel ses no we have to go home and we got home she ses well Joe I have do good deed for tonight.

I ses how's that sweets? She ses we poor Mister Grooch would have gone for years spoiling peoples singing in th when they sang God Bless America bu that he knows he sings off key he wil quiet and that will prevent much suf Joe it is not fair for fellows who sing o to make others suffer.

I SES well baby I didn't think old Groo so good on those songs in Grogan's but you kept telling him he was oka Ethel ses o he was very off key there t I did not want to break his heart. These do not come up very often and he cannot so many people suffer with them. I like to tell you something else Joe but afraid you will get mad. I ses you k never get mad and she ses well you s key yourself.

I ses o is that so? I ses o I do hay? well let me tell you something but Eth no Joe. I am going to bed now. Good nigh

U. S. SETS GOAL FOR MUNITIONS

Permanent Arms Plants To Supply Army of Two Million One of Aims.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7—A permanent munitions industry, owned largely by the federal government and capable of supplying an army of 2,000,000 men, emerged today as one of the major goals of the defense program.

Robert P. Patterson, new assistant secretary of war, described as an "innovation" the idea that most of the projected 60 ordnance plants to be built with government funds would be established on a permanent basis.

Traditionally, the United States has maintained a system of government arsenals which formed the nucleus of a munitions industry but which was not capable of rapid expansion in an emergency. To prepare better for future needs, Patterson said that the new plants, loading and storage units would be designed for long life. He made it plain, however, that they would be operated only during such periods as are necessary to procure the required stocks of munitions.

The army already has been given $231,000,000 of the $700,000,000 required for the new plants and has contracted with the DuPont interests to operate a $25,000,000 powder plant in southern Indiana. A shortage of labor capable of operating the necessary loading plants is proving something of a problem, Patterson said, adding that one or two such plants probably would be the next for which appointments would be let.

"We want to be sure of a source of supply for the forces we already have," he explained. The rest of the program would come along more slowly, he said.

Discussing the army's decision to locate the new plants chiefly in the area between the Alleghenies and the Mississippi, Patterson said they not only would have greater protection from enemy air attack, but the requisite supplies of water and coal needed for powder manufacture could best be obtained in relatively few parts of the country.

CITY TO APPOINT NEW FIRE CAPTAIN

Successor to Capt. Dennis To Be Named Soon.

Service-Safety Director Clyde C. Hobbs has asked the city civil service commission to certify the name of the fireman eligible for appointment as captain in the fire department. The new captain will fill the vacancy left by Capt. Arthur (Bobby) Dennis who retired from the department in June and died a few weeks later.

Members of the civil service commission reported that they will hold a meeting within the next few days and make the certification from an eligibility list established following a promotional examination last summer. Under civil service procedure in cases of promotion within the department, only the name heading the eligibility list will be certified unless two or more men have the same rating. Then all those included in the tie will be certified.

Since the new captain will be taken from the ranks, it will be necessary to appoint a new fireman following the captain's appointment, Mr. Caldwell announced.

African Attack May Mean More Than Mere Feint

By DEWITT MacKENZIE

Mussolini's attack on the British in Africa serves the logical purpose of compelling England to conduct two crucial, big-scale military operations simultaneously, thereby dividing her strength at a moment when she needs all she can muster for home defense against Hitler.

The Italian campaign represents more than that, however—assuming that what we have seen thus far is a serious offensive and not a feint. It is a blow at one of the very foundation stones of the British empire—control of the vast Mediterranean area and the Suez canal.

Can Be Vital

Of the three places at which Il Duce is striking simultaneously the push against Egypt from Libya is by far the most vital. The drives into Kenya colony and British Somaliland from Ethiopia do not at this juncture present any real menace, though they undoubtedly would were he successful in Egypt and the Sudan.

Were the Italians to overrun Egypt and capture the Suez canal it would represent a disaster of the first magnitude for the English. Among other things it would mean:

England's domination of the Mediterranean would be smashed.

The imperial lifeline via Suez to India and the other great dominions of the far east would be severed.

By the same token, British influence in the orient would be dealt a terrific blow, thereby giving Japan the chance she wants for hegemony.

England would lose her control of the near east and her powerful hold on the great Arabian population.

She also would lose control of vast oil fields in the Persian gulf region.

She would lose her influence with Turkey—guardian of the strategically important Dardanelles.

British opposition to a possible German offensive down through the Balkans would be removed, and those Dardanelles might come under Hitler's control.

Strangely enough, though, should this catastrophe be visited on England it wouldn't necessarily break her blockade of Europe.

Duce Has Troubles

One handicap which is likely to cause Mussolini trouble lies in his supply line. That, of course, must pass through the Mediterranean to Italy.

But while there are drawbacks, Mussolini has a tower of strength in his commander—Marshal Rodolfo Graziani. He is one of the most adroit of the desert warfare leaders of history. It was Graziani who, shortly after the World war, turned the tide for the Italians and enabled them to conquer Cirenaica and Libya.

Finally reached by a rescue party after she had lain injured on a ledge 8,000 feet up the steep slope of Mount Shuksan in Washington for nearly 24 hours, Miss Anne Cedarquist, indicated by arrow, is shown in this International Illustrated News phonephoto as she was about to be lowered from her precarious perch by rescuers. The 22-year-old girl, a chemist in Shelton, Wash., suffered probable rib and arm fractures.

NAZIS MAY SHAKE UP DIPLOMATIC STAFFS

Seen As Result of Pan-American Conference.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7 — A shakeup of German diplomatic and consular staffs in the western hemisphere was forecast in reliable quarters today as a result of measures adopted at the Havana Pan-American conference against "Fifth Column" activities.

German authorities were said to be perturbed by the determined attitude of the American republics and by the manner in which some Nazi officials have aroused concern in the countries where they were stationed.

A possible withdrawal of a considerable number and their replacement by diplomatic officials less active as Nazi party members was expected by some well-informed persons.

Washington developments relating to foreign agents' activities included:

1. The interstate commission on crime demanded an investigation of what it termed "Nazi-Fascists' use of attaches of legations and consulates for subversive propaganda and other Fifth Column activities."

2. The federal bureau of investigation announced its field officers would go on a 24-hour daily schedule to expedite investigations of Fifth Column suspects.

3. The house passed and sent to the senate a measure to permit the FBI to tap wires in investigations of sabotage, treason and espionage.

MANY CITIES FACING HOUSING SHORTAGES

Defense Program Finds Nearly 200 Lacking Room.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7 — Serious housing shortages are imminent in nearly 200 key cities, says the national executive committee of housing authorities, as a result of expansion of the national defense program.

The committee and the United States housing authority said that "typical" situations (data taken from USHA files) were:

"Cincinnati, Ohio, expects probable large increase of employment in its many industries adaptable for national defense and housing authority indicates demands for new housing for low-income families will become extremely heavy.

"Youngstown, Ohio, with an important concentration of steel mills and other defense industries, has a low-rent housing shortage so serious that many families now are building shacks out of store-box materials as squatters on land skirting the city. The local authority says the shortage of homes is unquestionably the weakest link in the city's part of the national defense program."

COAL PRICES SET

BODY OF SLAIN GIRL DISCOVERED IN WOODS

By The Associated Press

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Aug. 7—The gagged and stabbed body of Miss Rose Lodi, 22, attractive employe of a Springfield match company, was found today, partly disrobed, in a roadside thicket.

The body, which bore stab wounds in the throat and chest, was discovered by the girl's father, Angelo. She had been missing since early yesterday afternoon, disappearing while enroute to her employment.

The area in which the body was found, police said, is frequented by vagrants, known to authorities as "wood dogs."

BRITAIN URGED TO DRAW ON AMERICA

Greenwood Says Program Must Tie in with Ours.

BULLETIN

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7—The British government started negotiations here today for "hundreds of millions of dollars" of tanks, artillery, and other war supplies in addition to all previous Allied orders.

By The Associated Press

LONDON, Aug. 7—A government spokesman told Britain today that to win the war she must now "embark on a much more extensive program which must be related to the American national defense preparations."

Arthur Greenwood, Laborite minister without portfolio, speaking in the house of commons on Britain's wartime economic problems, said:

"The need to supplement our own production by drawing upon the vast and invulnerable capacity of North America has immensely increased since the fall of France."

Greenwood said there had been organized a committee composed of himself as chairman, Neville Chamberlain and Sir Kingsley Wood to direct the nation's economic war policy.

Greenwood, laborite member of the war cabinet, said Germany and the territories she has overrun are facing famine this winter and that next spring the pinch will be even worse.

"Hitler cannot add starvation to slavery without running the grave risk of revolution within his own territory," he said.

STARK TRAILING FOE IN MISSOURI VOTING

Cities Swing to Truman in Senatorial Race.

By The Associated Press

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 7—Missouri's two big cities overweighed the state in general today and tipped Sen. Harry S. Truman into the lead in his neck-and-neck race with Gov. Lloyd C. Stark for the Democratic senatorial nomination.

Stark trailed badly in Jackson county (Kansas City), home of Truman and hotbed of opposition to the governor from the remnants of the once mighty T. J. Pendergast "machine."

The St. Louis Democratic organization turned against the governor in a last-minute switch, and the combination of metropolitan ballots was too much for Stark's rural advantage.

Unofficial returns from 3,583 of the state's 4,447 precincts gave: Truman 211,545, Stark 203,430, and Maurice M. Milligan 97,339.

The Post-Dispatch reported the switch to Truman was made to obtain support from southeast Missouri political leaders for Lawrence McDaniel, the St. Louis city administration's candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor. A determined fight to defeat Stark had been waged by many Cotton county Democrats.

The unofficial vote in 3,103 precincts was: McDaniel 197,221, State Sen. Allen McReynolds of Carthage 165,241; Circuit Judge Ferd J. Frankenhoff of St. Joseph 51,153, and Guy W. Runnion, an attorney of Kansas City, 7,661.

Manvel H. Davis and David A. Proctor, both of Kansas City, were far ahead of five opponents in the race for the Republican senatorial nomination, while Forrest C. Donnell of St. Louis appeared to have captured the G.O.P. gubernatorial contest.

BEIGHTLER NAMED TO POST IN OHIO GUARD

Highway Chief Succeeds Henderson As Brig. General

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 7—Col. Robert S. Beightler, state highway director, was appointed a brigadier general in the Ohio National Guard by Gov. Bricker today, succeeding Warden Frank D. Henderson of Ohio penitentiary, who went into voluntary retirement.

The promotion of Colonel Beightler, now chief of staff of the 37th division, was subject to final war department approval and a special board examination to be conducted by Brig. Gen. C. B. Hodges, commanding officer of the U. S. army Fifth Corps area.

Colonel Beightler, former Marysville man, served for several years on the army general staff in Washington and was a private road contractor before accepting the highway directorship early in 1939. He served in the World war and on the Mexican border.

Beightler's promotion makes him commander of the 174th Infantry brigade, embracing the 147th regiment of southern Ohio and the 166th of Central Ohio (including Marion.)

looked around to see who was there, decided how they stood on a certain issue and started an argument on the opposite side.

He occupied the middle of the room, gesturing. His quiet wife ducked beneath his flailing arms to straighten his necktie.

Reporter Digs Up Past

Principal chronicler of Willkie lore in Akron is Keyes Beech, staff writer for the Akron Beacon Journal. He discovered:

(1) A former county detective who once threw Willkie out of the courthouse.

(2) A caddy who described Willkie's golf debut, at Portage Country club: "Pretty bad."

(3) A lunchroom attendant who remembered Willkie's typical repast (when he took time to eat) as "a couple of cheese sandwiches and a pot of beans."

(4) An old Willkie speech in which he expressed opposition both to prohibition and dancing on Sundays.

Beech also recalled that his newspaper congratulated the 48-year-old nominee on his birthday in 1928 with an item which concluded:

"He * * * has no political aspirations."

AFRICA

the reported preparations for the attack on England is for the purpose of diversion.

A bitter struggle between the British and Italians in Somaliland was forecast by military circles, who said the main Italian column is striking at Berbera, on the coast of the Gulf of Aden.

This column is between "6,000 and 7,000 strong, with some guns and tanks," it was reported by military sources here.

The first of the three columns of Italians who entered the British protectorate on Sunday is moving on Gargara and Zeila.

The second and main force is pointing toward Hargeisa, 30 miles from the frontier, and about 100 miles along a "highway" to Berbera.

The third is aimed at Odweina, 60 miles east of Hargeisa.

"Zeila is a coastal village of little importance, with a road running 150 miles along the coast of Berbera," said British military quarters. "Possession of either port will mean little to the Italians, who, of course, do not control the sea."

Seek To Close Sea

Both Zeila and Berbera are across from the British protectorate of Aden, however, and the Italians may hope ultimately to be in a position to close the southern entrance to the Red sea.

British military circles said the Italian columns moving on Hargeisa and Odweina would have to cross high hills over a single track road "barely negotiable for vehicles."

Neutral military observers said these hill roads were possible points for the first British counter attacks.

Brig. A. R. Chater is the British commander in Somaliland. He leads forces including the famous Somaliland camel corps, which, contrary to its name, is partly mechanized, the Kings African Rifles and "some others."

The coincidence of the attacks, and the carefully provisioned advances of Mussolini's Libyan forces noted by scouts were regarded by some observers as possibly the beginnings of a "grand strategy" of the axis high commands.

The Italians may be planning to "mop up" British Somaliland and the Aden protectorate to gain control of the southern entrance of the Red sea, and then attack Egypt from Libya on one side and from the Red sea on the other.

Spanish May Join

Persistent reports of German concentrations on the Spanish border, and Spanish propaganda calling for the return of Gibraltar, also would fall in with this line of African attack, it was noted.

The bulk of Imperial Germany's colonial empire was concentrated in Africa. The Nazis have persistently declared they want these colonies back.

There was a lull in German air activity over Britain last night and early today. Planes were reported over southwest England, Scotland and Wales last night. Some incendiary bombs were dropped in Scotland but no damage or casualties were reported.

In southwest England, in the Bristol channel area, the Germans dropped more leaflets containing Adolf Hitler's "peace or destruction" ultimatum and some bombs.

Germany continued her war of nerves with a radio broadcast to the English that the German air force is "ready to strike now."

An announcer for the Bremen station said:

"I can not tell you when the attack will come or how, but I can say that it will not come in the form in which it is anticipated in England....Attacks will be directed against docks and industrial centers."

He pointedly referred to densely-populated London as the "big target."

The statement by U. S. Ambassador to Belgium John Cudahy that Belgium would face near-famine by mid-September unless she received food from the United States drew British criticism.

The Daily Express declared that the Germans, not the British blockade, would be responsible for any suffering among the Belgians. The News Chronicle took a similar stand.

Informed British sources already had said it was "unlikely" the British would relax their blockade to allow food to pass into German-occupied territories.

A survey of sections of those territories by an Associated Press correspondent showed open populous communities of northern France still to be [illegible] with Belgium [illegible] in returning [illegible] to [illegible] homes [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

BUCYRUS POOL PUT ON BALLOT

Council To Ask for Vote on $25 000 Bond Issue, Defeated in 1938.

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS Aug 7 — In a session Tuesday night Bucyrus council disposed of a number of small routine business matters several pieces of larger importance including a measure to place a $25 000 swimming pool bond issue on the ballot at the November general election

Council turned down a similar proposal in 1938 No mention of a bond issue for the pool was made at the Tuesday night meeting The proposed locality raised a controversy which played a major role in the defeat of the bond issue

Service Director Fred Judd reported that the WPA project for the swimming pool which was subsequently given approval a year ago has been held under approval by federal officials Council passed the ordinance and resolution and committee asked for further time to consider a proposed $5 000 addition to the Bucyrus city hospital

Mayor Frank Mull budget was presented to council by Mayor C E Oppelander and a hearing set for Aug 20 The budget estimated costs for 1941 at $

MORROW CO. SCHOOL DISPUTE WARMS UP

Dissolved Board Hires 4 Teachers For District.

Special to The Star

MT GILEAD, Aug 7—Dispite the action of the county board of education in dissolving their school district and incorporating the territory in newly created consolidated districts the Congress township board of education this week employed four teachers to each in one room schools which they hope to retain

There is now pending in the Morrow county common pleas court an injunction action brought by the Congress board to prevent the county auditor from transferring territory

The county board members state that regardless of this suit the district is dissolved as the Congress board failed to register any protest by petition at the time the new districts were set up

The four teachers employed by the Congess board have already been employed to teach in the Perry Township district in which is incorporated the greater part of the Congress district by the action of the county board

Tribe Splits Pair With Chisox, Tigers Trim Browns, Share League Lead

Allen in Role of Starting Pitcher As Indians Win Nightcap.

By JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

After one day in the doghouse the Detroit Tigers are on top of the American league again and big Buck Newsom is back in the win column

The showboat doesn't have a full head of steam yet but, with a little boost from Archie McKain he conquered the St Louis Browns 6 2 last night for his 14th victory of the year.

Newsom pitched seven-hit ball but walked eight men and in the ninth inning he filled the bases with two out McKain stepped in and fanned Walt Judnich to end the game

The Tigers now appear to have the best pitching in the league and the records show without question that they have the best batting

Tribe Wins First

The Cleveland Indians started wooing fickle first place again today

By splitting a double bill with the White Sox yesterday the Tribe dropped a half game behind Detroit

The rest of the stretch drive looked less arduous after Johnny Allen's impressive return to the role of starting pitcher In his first start since June 19 he held the Sox to seven hits and was credited with the 3 to 2 nightcap victory after his mates lost the opener 5 to 1

Sixth For Allen

It was the sixth triumph for Allen—deprived of a shutout as Jeff Heath muffed a fly ball to let in two White Sox runs in the ninth Before that Johnny had given way to Bob Feller who took over when two were out and two on bases in the last inning

Cleveland scored in the first on Roy Weatherly's double and Lou Boudreau's single Allen started the two-run rally in the third with a double followed with singles by Weatherly Boudreau and Hal Trosky The Tribe collected all its 10 safe blows off Bill Dietrich before he yielded to Clint Brown at the end of the seventh

Lou Boudreau drove in the Indians only run in the first game as Lefty Lee held the Redmen to two hits Boudreau's single scored Ben Chapman who had walked and advanced to second on Weatherly's infield out Al Milnar allowed all nine of the Sox's hits before retiring in favor of Johnny Humphries at the end of the seventh

As Are Blanked

Sid Hudson Washington's big pickup from the Class D Florida State league who had pitched another one hitter earlier in the season shut out the Philadelphia Athletics 11-0 missing a no-hitter when Sam Chapman singled in the seventh

The New York Yankees fell apart again as they dropped their fourth straight game 8 3 to the Red Sox Boston made 14 hits and was aided by two Yankee errors

None of the first division clubs in the National league got into action yesterday and the Pittsburgh Pirates took advantage of the lull to beat the St Louis Cardinals 3 1 and move into a tie for fifth place

The Boston Bees who couldn't win themselves a few days ago, plastered a double licking on the Phillies 3 0 and 12 2 for Philadelphia's sixth straight setback

NEW LINCOLN PARK COURT FAVORITE OF NET FANS

Lincoln parks recently constructed tennis court termed one of the finest in the city by local net enthusiasts has been attracting steady attendance of players since it was opened a month ago The court comprises one of this summer's major improvements at the North Side park

It was constructed under the supervision of the city park board with the cooperation of the national youth administration Materials were supplied by the city and labor was furnished by NYA The project at present consists of a single court but plans already are underway to build another adjacent court next season, officials reported

The court is open to the public all hours of the day and players are charged a nominal fee to help with the cost of maintenance

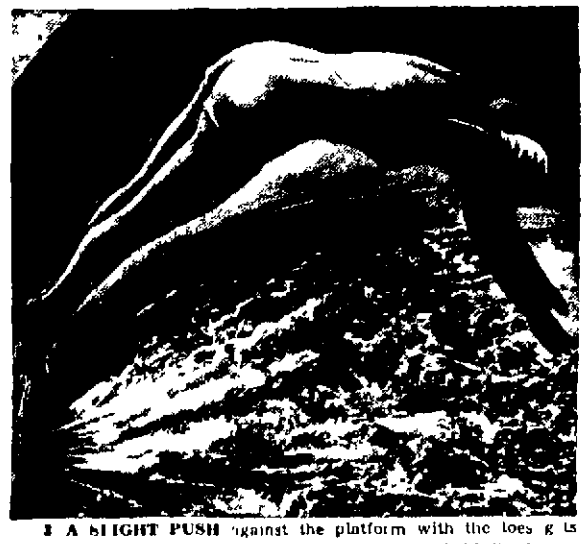
Diving Is Easy---Here's How

1 STAND AT THE edge of the platform, toes extending slightly Bend over as far as possible keeping your knees straight.

2. ALLOW YOUR BODY to tip forward naturally and then begin to bring your hands out away from your feet



3 A SLIGHT PUSH against the platform with the toes gets you out into the water Then legs are pulled up held firmly together and straight hands out ahead as you hit the water

Grid Stars Start Work for Annual All-Star Battle

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO Aug 7—The Green Bay Packers scourge of professional football have a date with trouble Aug 29

That's the night the pro champs line up in Soldier Field against a dream squad of collegians having their last fling at football glory as amateur gridders

The game which usually attracts 80 000 spectators will reunite for a night the famed and feared Iowa combination of Coach Eddie Anderson and his dazzling triple threat halfback, Nile Kinnick

Anderson was selected as head coach of the All Stars in a nationwide poll In a similar contest Kinnick was designated as a starter in the game polling more votes than any other player

Assisting Anderson in handling the All Star squad of 67 players will be Don Faurot Missouri Buck Shaw Santa Clara E E (Tad) Wiemn Princeton and Lowell (Red) Dawson Tulane

Kinnick's running mate on the starting eleven chosen by the fans will be Lou Brock of Purdue with Ambrose Schindler of Southern California at quarterback and Joe Thesing of Notre Dame at full

At ends will be Bill Fisk of Southern California and Esco Sarkkinen Ohio State Nick Cutlich Northwestern and Joe Boyd Texas Aggies were named tackles Harry Smith Southern California and Jim Logan Indiana guards, and Clyde Turner Hardin Simmons center

CCC VS KIRKPATRICK

The Kirkpatrick and Marion CCC softball teams will play at 6 p m Thursday at the former's park

Kansas City Wins Twin Bill To Hold Lead by 13 Games

By The Associated Press

The Kansas City Blues in addition to an abundance of pitching and hitting also possess the killer instinct

The American Association pacesetters are already far in front but that didn't keep them from smacking Minneapolis down twice last night to run their first place margin to 13 full games

The two victories gave the Blues a record of 17 wins in their last 18 games and left Minneapolis only two games ahead of Columbus in third place The scores were 5 2 and 2 1

Mark Christman's error in the sixth allowed two runs to score and enabled Columbus to defeat Toledo 4 to 3 One big inning gave Louisville an 8 to 4 victory over Indianapolis before only 500 fans in the latter city St Paul defeated Milwaukee 4 to 1 pitcher Lloyd Johnson leaving 12 Brewers stranded on the bases as he scattered 10 hits

Three Marion Teams Dropped From District Tourney at Upper Sandusky

Three Marion teams were knocked out in the first rounds last night of the district softball tournament at Harrison Smith Park of Upper Sandusky Marion Steam Shovel bowed before Star Theater of Upper Sandusky in the opener Marion Eagles were shellacked by the Galion National Vaults and the Marion Merchants dropped a contest to the Hudson Insurance of Upper Sandusky Two local teams, Huber and Young Democrats, remain in the tournament as a result of victories in the first rounds Monday night

The Star Theater squad crossed the platter six times in the fifth inning to ice a 9-6 decision over Marion Steam Shovel The Upper Sandusky crew combined a five hit attack with four Shovel errors to break up a 4 3 ead which the Marionites had been enjoying Fritz Walters connected for a circuit blow in the fifth with Griffith on base Each team garnered eight hits while committing four errors

Galion Team Wins

The Galion National Grave Vaults had little trouble winning 14 5 from the Marion Eagles as they punctuated every inning except two with runs Fliner led the Galion attack with a homer in the fourth with two mates aboard Applegate had a perfect night at bat for the locals as he hit safely four out of four times at the plate Fred Noll hurler for Galion kept the Eagles under control by relinquishing nine scattered hits while his mates were pounding Weiss for 13 blows

The Marion Merchants went down in a 8 2 defeat as they met up with an old jinx the Hudson Insurance squad of Upper Sandusky It was the third game this season that the Merchants have dropped to the Upper Sandusky aggregation Lardieb held the Marion batsmen to four hits while setting the pace at bat for his teammates with a homer Fields a four base blow for one of Hudson's 10 base hits Mickey Ferris accounted for half of his teams two runs by slapping out a homer in the seventh

Two Games Tonight

Two games are scheduled in the quarter finals tonight Huber and the Wyandot Vaults of Upper Sandusky will start the opener at 8 30 p m while the Young Democrats and the Star Theater of Upper Sandusky will tangle at 9 30 p m in the nightcap

Semi finals will be played tomorrow night with Hudson Insurance and National Grave Vaults meeting in the first game and the winners of tonight's games in the second Final rounds are scheduled for Friday night

Epworth Keeps Lead in No. 1 On 2-1 Win Over Forest Lawn

The hotly contested race in the Sunday School No 1 loop remains unchanged between Epworth and Oakland as both teams were victorious last night Trinity walloped Calvary in another league game

Maurice "Maury" Whitcum kept Epworth in the top spot as he drove in the winning runs that gave his team a 2 1 decision over Forest Lawn at Presidents Field Whitcum ace twirler of the league leaders put his teammates out in front by one run in the third inning by clouting a four bagger Forest Lawn evened the count in the sixth with a lone tally With a runner on in the seventh Whitcum tripled to left for the deciding run The winners collected five hits off Stinson Forest Lawn pitcher while Whitcum was limiting his opponents to four It was the eleventh win for the circuit leader

Oakland had little trouble overwhelming Wesley 13 6 at Garfield park as Harry Moak making his first appearance after several weeks illness had the losers under control Moak held Wesley to five hits while his mates were hammering Lashey and Detwiler for 13 It was the tenth win in 13 starts for Oakland

Trinity tightened its grip on third place by blasting the cellar dwelling Calvary aggregation 16 0 at the Shovel grounds Gilbert pitched five hit ball for Trinity while his mates jumped on the offerings of three Calvary pitchers for 15 blows Both teams had only seven men in the field
